Friday June 8 6pm—9pm

A Tale of Samurai Cooking 2013 (M)

Film in Japanese with English subtitles 122min

Directed by Yūzou Asahara

In this tale of love and food, Haru is a woman with an excellent sense of taste and great skills in the kitchen. Unfortunately, she also has a feisty character. One day Dennai Funaki, the samurai chef from Kaga, proposes that Haru should marry his son and heir. The Funaki family have served the lords of Kaga as their chefs for generations, but their heir and Haru's new husband is a terrible cook. In order to save the family name and its position as kitchen samurai, Haru decides to teach her new husband, Yasunobu, the art of cuisine.

Come join us for an evening of food and film! Japanese nibbles will be served along with a taste of Hyogo Sake from 6pm, followed by the free screening of "A Tale of Samurai Cooking" from 7pm.
